Tamar Broadbent: Best Life

SoHo Playhouse, New York

7 - 16 December (except 10-12)

7pm (Sundays 5pm)

'With blistering wit and a Glee-style delivery, Broadbent creates a must-see show leaving the audience clutching their sides, tapping their feet, eagerly awaiting more.'

★★★★★ Edinburgh Festivals Magazine

'Talented, bright and funny. I predict a great future.'

Michael Palin

"Is it too much to ask for everything?", Tamar shouted drunkenly at a bin.

This was the plan: 1) Find dream job. 2) Change the world. 3) Go for brunch. Now Tamar's broke, overwhelmed by options and in a complicated relationship with Netflix.

In a world fuelled by Instagram, feminism and fuck boys..., Tamar asks, 'how do you know if you are living your best life?'

Fresh from a five-star, sell-out run at the UK's Edinburgh Fringe Festival, comedian and award-winning songwriter Tamar Broadbent makes her New York debut with Best Life, a hilarious musical comedy about ambition, anxiety and avocados.

Using an innovative mix of traditional stand-up, original songs, and some sage advice from her 95-year-old Grandmother Joan, Tamar explores what success means in the modern world and asks if the goals we set are truly our own or are what we fear they should be.

'Best Life is savvy, hilarious and a must see for any millennial.'

Tamar Broadbent is a comedian, improviser, writer, singer, actor, playwright and award-winning songwriter. She has filmed for Comedy Central online and written for BBC Radio.

Tamar trained in UCB-style improv at the Free Association in London, and is currently performing at legendary American improv theatre Boom Chicago in Amsterdam, whose alumni includes Seth Meyers, Jordan Peele, Kay Cannon and more. She performs regularly on the UK stand-up circuit, at venues such as The Comedy Cafe, Glee Club and The Comedy Store.

In her free time, Tamar enjoys watching live music, making bolognese, and drinking as much wine as is stereotypically expected of an English person.

More reviews of Tamar:

'Highly engaging and enjoyable performance. As is said at music gigs when a band has done so well that an audience doesn't want the show to end, "more!"'

★★★★★ London Theatre 1

'Go see her...it may be your chance to see the next big thing.'
